

Double Breast Vaccinator

Pullet Vaccination

Exclusively From Zoetis

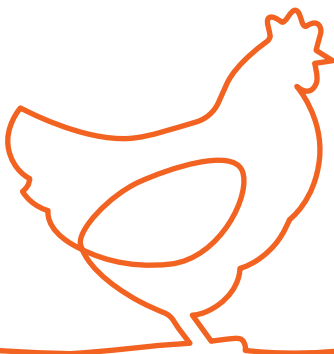

Enroll today in a Double Breast Vaccinator qualified layer vaccine program.

High turnover among an inexperienced labor force can increase the risk and cost of poultry vaccination. Counteract those challenges with the biodevice from Zoetis that is designed to provide an effective and simple-to-use solution.

The Double Breast Vaccinator (DBV) from Zoetis is an innovative vaccine delivery solution designed to help reduce the risk of self-injection while supporting efficient and accurate pullet vaccination.

Effective

- ✓ Administer one vaccine or two vaccinations simultaneously.
- ✓ Track vaccine doses with an easy-to-read screen.
- ✓ Help limit stress on birds through reduced handling.

Safety features

- ✓ Ergonomic design enables vaccination without operator hands touching the device.
- ✓ Three-sensor technology helps ensure needles are not released until each bird is properly aligned.
- ✓ Release warning and air-bubble detection help prevent false injections.

Simple to use

- ✓ LED-display-guided positioning and interchangeable breast plate help accommodate accurate vaccination of different types and ages of chickens.
- ✓ Plug-and-play operation — device is fully electric and does not require compressed air.
- ✓ Short training time quickly instructs workers about proper DBV operation.

Enroll today in a DBV-qualified layer vaccine program

Layer vaccination programs that meet agreed-upon program targets may qualify to use the DBV in their complexes.

Qualified customers may lease the DBV at no cost or through a monthly fee agreement.*

Check with your Zoetis representative for program details.

zoetis

Frequently asked questions

How can my facility qualify for the DBV program?

There are multiple ways to qualify, including a lease model and a vaccine purchase commitment model. Check with your Zoetis representative for program details.

What is the DBV program's duration?

Program will vary depending on qualification terms.

What service and support are available for the DBV?

For customers qualifying to lease the DBV at no charge, maintenance will be provided at no cost (including shipping), subject to certain exceptions, as stated in qualifying terms. For device support, call 800-849-3629.

How do I purchase the consumables associated with the DBV?

All consumables for the DBV may be purchased through Zoetis. Contact your Zoetis representative for the consumables price list and order information.

What training resources are available?

A comprehensive kit of training and operation support resources are available. Scan the QR code to access the full suite of resources.

Contact your Zoetis account manager to learn how you can use the Double Breast Vaccinator in your complex.

*Consumables are not included in the lease agreement and are purchased separately.

All trademarks are the property of Zoetis Services LLC or a related company or a licensor unless otherwise noted.

© 2025 Zoetis Services LLC. All rights reserved. DBV-00011R1

zoetis